Hello,

The BC Centre on Substance Use (BCCSU) has recently released some resources and educational offerings that you may find useful for your Division of Family Practice members:

Seminar Series on the Clinical Management of Alcohol Use Disorder and Opioid Use Disorder

The BCCSU is now offering the Seminar Series on Clinical Management of Alcohol Use Disorder and Opioid Use Disorder online. These sessions are presented by leading experts in our province in partnership with the BCCSU and are tailored for family physicians, physician specialists, nurse practitioners and allied health professionals providing clinical care, treatment and support to patients with alcohol and opioid use disorder. These events are typically two-hour long and are CME accredited for 2.0 MOC Section 1 and for up to 2.0 Mainpro+ credits through UBC CPD.

These sessions summarize research evidence, review guideline recommendations, distribute helpful handouts, and are followed by an "ask the expert" discussion period where health care providers have a supportive environment to ask their questions, raise anticipated challenges, and bring clinical cases for discussion.

For more information or to book a session for your members, please contact Nicole Fairbairn at nicole.fairbairn@bccsu.ubc.ca.

24/7 Addiction Medicine Clinician Support Line

The newly launched 24/7 Addiction Medicine Clinician Support Line provides telephone consultation to physicians, nurse practitioners, nurses, and pharmacists who are involved in addiction and substance use care and treatment in British Columbia. The Support Line connects health care providers to an Addiction Medicine Specialist who has expertise and knowledge in addiction medicine (including emergency, acute, and community care). The Support Line is staffed 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 52 weeks a year to provide rapid response for time sensitive clinical substance use inquiries. To call the 24/7 Addiction Medicine Clinician Support Line and speak to an Addiction Medicine Specialist, call 778-945-7619 or please visit: www.bccsu.ca/24-7 for more information.

Telephone consultation for physicians, nurse practitioners, nurses, and pharmacists providing addiction and substance use care. Available 24/7, 365 days a year.
