GP for Me

The majority of the broad engagement of our community is complete. We have just completed a public survey asking the Thompson Region community about their use of primary care services. We had a good response rate and the results are just being tabulated. More information will be forthcoming in the next newsletter. We will be holding a think tank session on May 28 with our strategic partners, physicians and the GP for Me advisory Committee to look at the results of the community assessment. If you would like to participate in this opportunity, please contact Gerriane Clare, project lead gclare@divisionsbc.ca.

Community News

Whole Health Care, a private health care company in Kamloops, founded in 2013 by two Registered Nurses, Colleen Thom and Heidi Whiteaker.

Through health challenges with loved ones, both women found a need to assist others with similar situations.

They offer services in "Health Mapping" and "Mobile Nursing Foot Care".

Recognizing that foot care is not a regulated specialty as yet, both Colleen and Heidi are trained in Alberta, where standards for foot care are higher than in BC. In accordance with both BC and Alberta Infection and Prevention Control standards, they have chosen to deliver the safest care to their clients. All instruments used in their foot care procedures are "sterile to the point of use". Attention is given to the diabetic client and the high risk foot with referrals to other health care professionals as necessary. Healthy From the Start Effective Oct 15, Healthy From the Start (formerly known as the Prenatal Registry) program expanded IH wide. Healthy From The Start is a toll-free, confidential phone line service that offers health screening, information and referrals. Healthy From the Start connects pregnant women with appropriate services in their communities to help them have a healthy pregnancy. All women are encouraged to call early in pregnancy.

Physicians are asked to promote Healthy From the Start by sharing the contact information with all pregnant women using the business card and display information that was sent to all family and delivering physicians in October 2013. Clients can register by calling 1-855-868-7710, or online at www.interiorhealth.ca/HealthyFromTheStart. The service is offered Monday-Friday 8:30-4 PM PST. Referral forms are available if you have concerns that a woman may not call in but you would like her to be connected with this program.

For more information please contact Nadine Johnson, Practice Lead, Prevention and Promotion at Nadine.johnson@interiorhealth.ca.
