

Where can I receive care?

PATIENT INFORMATION • PRIMARY & COMMUNITY CARE RESOURCES

For non-emergency health issues, call your family doctor or nurse practitioner first.

For serious, life-threatening illness or injury requiring immediate care:

EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT

The following conditions should be assessed and treated immediately in an Emergency Department (ED) or by calling 9-1-1:

- Chest pain
- Confusion
- Difficulty breathing
- Major psychiatric illness
- Major trauma or injury
- Maternity or obstetric issues
- Poisoning or overdose
- Severe abdominal pain
- Significant head injury
- Suspected stroke

Not sure where to go for help?

Call 8-1-1 HealthLink BC (available 24/7; call 7-1-1 if hearing impaired) or visit www.healthlinkbc.ca for advice from:

- Nurses
- Pharmacists
- Dietitians

For same day treatment of non-life threatening illnesses or injuries or if you do not have a family doctor or nurse practitioner:

For non-emergency illnesses:

FAMILY DOCTOR & NURSE PRACTITIONER

For non-emergency illnesses, people should always call their regular family doctor (GP) or nurse practitioner (NP) office first. Same-day appointments may be available.

Your GP or NP is best for:

- Continuing care for ongoing health-care concerns
- Prescription renewals
- Follow-up visits for chronic conditions
- Follow-up visits for lab tests or imaging tests
- Regular check-ups
- First contact for new conditions not requiring urgent or emergency care
- Forms (e.g. sick notes, driver's licence, insurance, medical)

PHARMACIST

Pharmacists are a good resource for advice and limited prescription renewals.

Try them first for:

- Allergies
- Minor fever
- Cold symptoms
- Mild rash
- Manageable back pain, joint pain
- Urgent medication refill
