

Central Interior Rural Primary Care Network

“Optimizing accessible primary care service delivery with coordinated, team-based, culturally safe approaches.”

To:	CIRD, Interior Health, First Nation Partner Organizations, Clinics Health Centers, Stakeholders	From:	Central Interior Rural Primary Care Network and Exeter Clinic, 100 Mile House
Date:	July 12, 2021	Re:	Emily Warren, Nurse Practitioner

STAFFING ANNOUNCEMENT

Weyt-kp/ Dzin Guzun/ Dahooja/Good day!

On behalf of the Central Interior Rural Primary Care Network (CIR PCN) partners; (The Central Interior Rural Division of Family Practice, Interior Health, First Nations Health Authority, and First Nations Partners - Secwepemc, Tsilhqot'in and Dakelh Dene (Ulkatcho) Nations), it is my pleasure to announce that Emily Warren has accepted a Nurse Practitioner position at the Exeter Clinic in 100 Mile House.

Emily is excited to be joining the PCN team and the Exeter Clinic as 100 Mile House has been her second home for the past 16 years.

“My family has had a cabin on Horse Lake since 2004, and since then, it has been my dream to live here permanently. When I decided to become a nurse practitioner, I knew that I wanted to relocate and live in the Cariboo. I am very passionate about rural healthcare and improving primary care access to rural communities, making the Central Interior Rural Primary Care Network a perfect fit.”

Throughout her NP schooling, Emily worked in a variety of primary care settings in both the Lower Mainland as well as in Williams Lake and 100 Mile House. Prior to becoming a nurse practitioner, she worked as an Emergency Nurse at the 100 Mile Hospital as well as at Delta Hospital in the Lower Mainland. For the past 10 years, Emily also provided academic tutoring for university, high school and elementary students.

A country girl at heart, Emily spends the majority of her free time horseback riding. When not with her horses you can find Emily “enjoying fishing, hiking, ATving, snowmobiling and all the activities that this beautiful area has to offer”. Emily is a huge animal lover, and has wanted her own farm for as long as she can remember. She states, “the opportunities for this lifestyle here are endless, and I hope to soon have a variety of farm animals to join me in my new life up here in the Cariboo!”

Emily began practicing on July 5th and can be reached through the Exeter Clinic at 250-395-2271.

Please join us in welcoming Emily!

If you would like to find further information about the Central Interior Rural PCN CLICK HERE.

The Central Interior Rural Primary Care Network acknowledges that it operates on the ancestral, traditional and unceded territories of the Secwepemc, Tsilhqot'in and Dakelh Dene (Ulkatcho) Nations.