

A new online tool helps pregnant patients find local maternity care providers

Pregnant patients can now easily find information about maternity care providers in their communities, thanks to a new “Find a Maternity Care Provider” feature on the Pathways Medical Care Directory website located here <https://pathwaysmedicalcare.ca/where-you-can-customize-your-search-by-city>.

This tool serves as a one stop shop for pregnant patients to find care.

Benefits of the tool include:

- Pregnant patients can easily find the type of care they are looking for by using the following filtering options:
 - Type of provider
 - Languages the providers speak
 - Delivery hospital
 - Gender of the provider
 - Type of care provided; for example: high risk pregnancy, transgender maternity care, out of hospital birth, etc.
- Streamlined layout of listings makes it easy to find key information rather than searching through different clinic websites.
- Search is highly customizable at a city level.

The maternity care finder tool allows residents of British Columbia to easily find up-to-date information on how a maternity care doctor is providing virtual and in-person care, and how to go about making an appointment.

The directory can now be accessed here.
